

6. Brian Sheron's Stations

This is my Long Island City (in the Borough of Queens) HO scale station (above). It was a kit, but the rest of the setting was scratchbuilt. Greenlawn Station (right) is a kit I saw on eBay and instantly recognized it to be almost identical to the real Greenlawn station, which was two miles from our house on Long Island. My high school was within walking distance of the station, so I went past it almost every day. Unfortunately, like Long Island City station, I do not know who the kit manufacturer was.
