

5. Mat Thompson's Water Scenes

My Oregon Coast Railroad is in Portland where the Columbia and Willamette Rivers meet so I have eight water scenes ranging from harbors with ocean going ships to a log pond, streams and swamps. And, truthfully, I'll add another when I can figure how to do it.

I think they are fun to see, fun to create, and, combined with the hundreds of pine trees on the layout, leave no doubt about the area modeled.

I don't have a favorite but these pictures show a few of them. Mat Thompson, MMR
