

7. Rick Wright's Engines

109-car Canadian Pacific coal train eastbound on Stoney Creek bridge (British Columbia), May 1983. \(Photo left\)

Louisville & Nashville GP35 #1120 leads Louisville-bound tonnage across Independence Creek on L&N's famed "Short Line" connecting Cincinnati with Louisville, the toughest piece of railroading in the Bluegrass State, August 1972. \(Photo above right\)

With strong winds kicking up desert sand, Santa Fe SD45 #5590 brings a hot westbound train across 1947-built bridge at Arizona's Canyon Diablo, October 1975. Old pilings of original 1881 bridge across canyon are visible on right. \(Photo left\)

Rick Wright