

4. Nicholas Kalis' Stream and Trestle

The stream is poured with Envirotex Light. Figure is a Fine Folk Figures painted by Warrior Run Loco Works. This Fn3 model is of a single-track straight low wooden trestle bridge spanning a gulch on the island of Oahu, Hawaii. The caption of the only photo I have found locates this trestle bridge near the Waipahu sugar mill owned by the Oahu

Sugar Company. The prototype was built sometime after 1897 when the Oahu Sugar Company was incorporated and before 1946 - the date of the only available photograph (Cochrane Collection). I have been unable to locate any plans for this trestle bridge. My entire trestle bridge was scratchbuilt of wood except for a resin steel barrel and Preiser pigeon 47084 1:25 scale and Nut-Bolt-Washers (NBWs).
